

Write Your First Song

Write your name here:

Choose a topic

This song can be about whatever you want. It could be your pet, your favorite food, or what you did yesterday. Write your topic in the blank space:

Write the song

Write four lines of a song. Each line can be a sentence or just a few words. Experiment and listen for natural pauses as you speak or sing your words.

The last words on the two lines marked with * should rhyme with each other. No other rhymes are necessary. This is called an ABCB rhyme scheme.

AB*CB*

That's It! You're a Songwriter!

Believe it or not, you've now written your first song. From here, there are a lot of options. You can try singing your song, sing over a chord progression, or ask someone else to sing your song.

For background tracks, songwriting ideas, and more resources, check out AlleeWillis.org.

